Dreaming Of Numbers

It's nine o'clock.
Hugo is already in bed.
He is sleeping and dreaming.

Hugo's friend sleeps, too.
What do rats dream of?
Cheese? Sausages? We don't know.

Hugo is dreaming of numbers: nine, thirteen, fifteen, twenty-eight, forty-seven.
Suddenly he wakes up:
These are Bingo numbers!
Hugo has a look on his alarm clock.

It's ten to ten. The shop around the corner is going to close.
Hugo puts on his jeans and a T-shirt.
Hugo runs to the shop. It's still open.
Hugo wants to buy some Bingo cards.
The shop assistant says:
"Sorry, there are no Bingo cards left. You know, there is one million in the jackpot."

Hugo goes home. He isn't happy.
He switches on his TV set.
He looks at the Bingo numbers.
He can't believe his eyes.
Those are the winning numbers.

sausage: formed meat
alarm-clock: device to wake you up to close: shut

shop assistant: who sells things to switch on: make work
