

Why Doesn't He Come?

Happy Hour is the time in which a bar offers discounts on beer, wine and cocktails. It is in the late afternoon from Monday to Friday. The Happy Hour is the hour you meet work colleagues at a bar after work hours.

My name is Sarah. I live in New York City.
I'm a travel agent.
I work till five o'clock.

It's Friday.
I'm going to meet my boyfriend.
His name is Roy. He lives in Queens.
We meet every Friday for Happy Hour.
Today we are going to meet at the Harbor Inn.
This is in Downtown Manhattan.

I leave my agency at a quarter past five.
I call for a cab.
I arrive at the Harbor Inn at half past five.
Roy isn't there.
He is never late.

Why is he late today?
Why doesn't he call or send an SMS?
Is he ill?
Is he together with another girl?
Doesn't he want to come?
Why doesn't he come?

I have a drink and wait for half an hour.
At six o'clock I call for a cab again.

I'm at home in my apartment.
It's a quarter to seven.
I try to make a call at Roy's home.
He isn't at home. Where is he?

Reasons for being late:

Underline the reasons you would accept from a friend as an excuse:

miss the train – meet an old friend – become ill – enjoy the sunshine – have an accident – being arrested by the police – read a fantastic novel – being kidnapped by aliens – a broken motor bike – being bitten by a dog – a multi-million lottery win – heavy rainfall – snow and ice – an earthquake – a tornado – a black cat crossing the way – a white mouse blocking the way – slip on a banana peel – being bad-humoured – hunting butterflies – looking for shells and starfish on the beach
